BUREAU
VERITAS

Prove that your products are eco-designed

To meet the growing demand in the markets for products that are environmentally friendly, companies are taking into account the environmental impact of their products from the design stage.

The stakes:

- Commit your company and its products to implement a policy that will reduce the impact on the environment,
- Meet the expectations of consumers and customers/companies for "environmentally friendly" products: recyclable, less energy consuming, employing fewer raw materials and more.

Your needs:

Your products already show a lower environmental impact all along their lifecycle, and your company wishes to committ itself into an ecodesign process:

- You want to set up a structured ecodesign process
- You already have set up ecodesign processes and you wish to promote your action
- You already have developed ecodesigned products and want to promote them

Footprint Progress® Certification: a visible solution

Footprint Progress® is a result driven certification that enables companies to inform their customers about their products' environmental impact throughout the product lifecycle.

Its purpose is to prove to the consumer, with a visible logo, that the product has limited environmental impact.

A solution for every type of product or service.

A two steps certification: Commitment and Final certification

A logo placed directly on the product and/or its packaging.

Footprint Progress®: a visible certification and a simple, progressive and efficient process

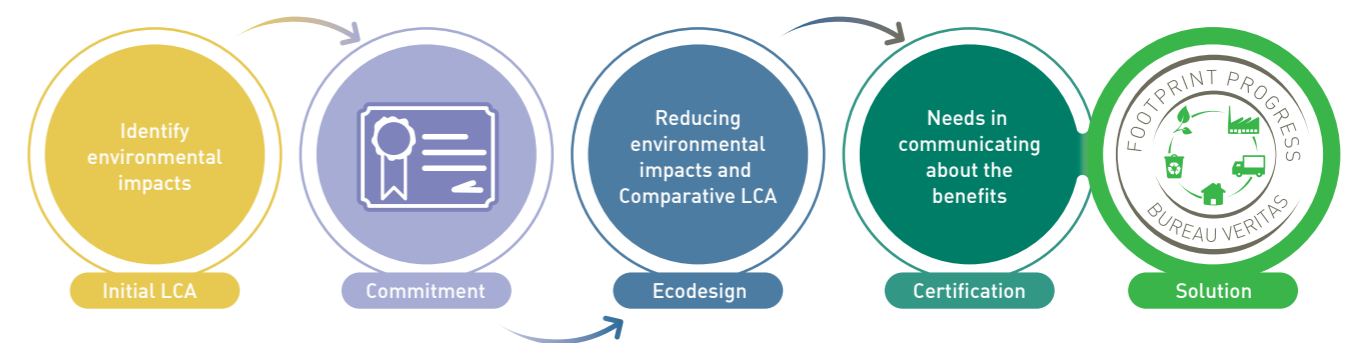

Level 1 - Commitment:

Call upon an independant third party to confirm your company's commitment to an eco-design.

Level 2 - Product certification:

Your results will be checked and certified for eco-design, once the product or service have been re-designed.

Your eco-innovation results will be checked and certified
Benefit from clear product marking.
